

Innovative & competent

We carry our origin in our name

Since its foundation in April 1997 in the Hanseatic city of Bremen, Hansepet is at home in the pet industry as an founder-managed company and has established a firm position for itself in the market.

Since 2007, we have been developing and producing our own high-quality snacks for dogs and cats at our company location in Ganderkesee.

There, we produce, amongst others, the premium meat pate in tubes, which are greatly loved by many dogs and cats. We always enjoy working on new ideas to provide our four-legged friends with the best and most innovative snacks.

In 2018, we expanded our location and invested in a new high rack with 900 pallet spaces and in new, modern production halls at the highest technological standard.

In 2019, our new filling line was put into operation.

"It is a great pleasure for me to see how Hansepet has developed. I thank you for your trust and I am looking forward to many more successful years."

Tanja Rehberg, Managing Director

Our core competence

We have been producing our premium meat pate for dogs and cats for decades at our location in Ganderkesee.

In production, we focus on the highest quality ingredients and regionality. We only use fresh, food-grade meat from regional suppliers, ensuring a sustainable and environmentally friendly supply chain.

Our promise of quality

- Lots of fresh, food-grade meat
- Highest quality raw materials and ingredients
- High acceptance and well tolerated
- Without added sugar and grain
- Without flavour enhancer
- Without preservatives or colourings
- Without mechanically separated meat
- Without animal testing

Our entire production process is constantly monitored and controlled on every level by our qualified and specifically trained staff.

Since 2010, our production facility has been certified according to the IFS Food Standard.

Wide range of applications straight from the tube.
